

Ever changing heart

(music + lyrics by Olivia Trummer)

Heart you've changed again
But who am I to blame you for always being who you are?
Heart you've changed again
But who am I to tame you, suggesting that you've gone too far?

Re-arranged again
Nothing ventured, nothing gained
It takes a heartbeat to unchain the brain
Don't defeat the beat
just connect it to your feet
You'll never fall apart if you just start
listening to your heart
If you start listening to your heart
If you start listening to your ever-changing heart

Heart you've changed again
But why should I pretend that I'm any smarter than you are?
Heart you've changed again
But why should I depend on the shell of who I've been so far?

No one stays the same
Any trying is in vain
But make your heart the place where you depart
Don't defeat the beat
just connect it to your feet
You'll never fall apart if you just start
listening to your heart
If you start listening to your heart
If you start listening to your ever-changing heart

Start listening to your heart
Start listening to your ever-changing heart
Start listening to your heart
Start listening to your ever-changing heart

(from the album „For You“)