

One way streets

(music + lyrics by Olivia Trummer)

Heading for home
she had to leave into the crying of the night Walking alone
rain is the only one she wants to hold her tight

Moved by her feet
moved by the need of crying uncried tears
Walking on one way streets

Ready to start over again and trade her compass for the blues Deep in her heart
she feels a pain that only tears and rain can sooth

Moved by her feet
moved by the need of crying uncried tears
Walking on one way streets

Heading for light
oh how she longs to take her compass out of pawn Rushing through the night but only time can bring her closer to the dawn

Moved by her feet
moved by the need of drying undried tears
Moved by her feet
moved by the need of drying undried tears
Walking on one way streets
