

Piece of love

(Lyrics by Olivia Trummer)

A young girl's dream had always been to spend her time loving the one she found until the day she found him gone How surprised and bummed she felt, the tears were running through her veins couldn't believe she'd ever love again

But suddenly she realized there's nobody to blame for cutting ties is just part of the game
So she got rid of the illusions that had sprouted in her head and got ready for the life ahead

She realized that it would be a waste of time to hang her head and drown in gloom
She realized it would be too much of a crime to not allow her life to bloom
She realized you cannot only have a piece of love, you have to take it all
She realized that every spring time might be followed by a fall

A young boy's dream had always been to stay in love forevermore until the day that he walked out of the door How relieved and free he felt at first but soon began to miss the kind of love that he had felt before

But suddenly he realized there's nobody to blame for cutting ties is just part of the game
So he got rid of all the guilt that had settled in his chest and got ready trying to be his best

He realized that it would be a waste of time to hang his head and drown in gloom
He realized it would be too much of a crime to not allow his life to bloom
He realized you cannot only have a piece of love, you have to take it all
He realized that every spring time might be followed by a fall

They realized we're all the same, we all are trying to live our life the best we can They realized love's like a game, you win, you lose but dropping out would be a shame
They realized you cannot only have a piece of love, you have to take it all
They realized that every spring time might be followed by a fall

That's when they started
That's when they started That's when they started to open up and love again
